FOREWORD

The Senior Class of 1967 proudly presents this copy of the COLONIAL ROYALTY and hopes that our parents, teachers and school-mates will enjoy it.

The Production of this yearbook has required the cooperation of our staff, students, teachers, and those who have contributed their support through advertisements.

We, the Senior Class, realize a growing awareness of the necessity to fulfill the requirements demanded by us in an everchanging world. May we fulfill these requirements to their fullest capacity.

DEDICATION

To the one who has so willingly and unselfishly given of her own time to help us, not only as a group but as individuals.

Because she is a teacher who arouses in her students a renewed interest in their abilities, who instills a love of truth and honor that inspires those about her.

We express our deepest feelings of admiration, respect, and appreciation in dedicating the 1967 Colonial Royalty to you.

MEMORIES

We all have memories I am sure,
As we have journeyed on our tour.
Our journey started in Room One,
That was where our fun begun.
Mrs. Clark always kept us straight,
And wouldn't accept us being late.
Next, we entered Room Two,
Things now weren't quite so new.
Mrs. Crouch taught us many things,
Preparing us for what life brings.
When we arrived in Room Three,
We were growing up, you could see.
Miss Mary Acree taught that year,
And to all, was very dear.
In spare time, the poems we'd learn,
Kept us from having time to burn.
Our next room was Number Four,
And who did we find at the door?
Mrs. Greenwood, waiting for one and all,
She taught us much, we can recall.
Up the line we journeyed on,
And on that September morn,
Miss Clare Mitchell was in Room Five;
She found our group much alive.
We were still growing up you know,
She managed well, in spite of the show.
Room Six was our next stop,
To continue to cultivate our crop.
Mrs. Hagerty was there to see us through,
And teach us things that were new.
We had been warned that the seventh grade,
was the hardest to make, if it were made.
But in Room Seven, who did we find?
Mrs. Alexander, the best of kind.
She explained things well, until we understood.
And could do the things that we should.
Now, that high school was ahead,
We didn't expect it to be a soft bed.
We had many teachers, from many places,
They taught us much and we remember their faces.
Yes, graduation time is drawing near,
We shall miss our classmates and all so dear.
Wherever we are and whatever we do,
We'll extend best wishes and keep memories of you.
We hope that you will do the same,
For we'll need your wishes to help make us a name.

CLASS PROPHECY

One night about midnight, as I was leaving Gale's house in Newtown, she warned me that I should have gotten gas; but I said, "I know this car better than you do and I know I won't run out of gas."

I got about five miles from her house and, sure enough, I did run out of gas.

I started walking and, boy, I sure hated having to leave my car sitting beside the road like that! I walked for about thirty minutes, and all of a sudden I heard a car coming. I pulled back my finger and threw up my thumb. A car was coming toward me, I dashed away and it just happened that a forestry tool box was behind me. I fell against it, hitting my head, then blacked out. I started a wonderful dream about my classmates.

It was now the year of 1977. I was now the owner of Atkins Motor Company, a garage selling new cars. On the side I had a Racer and I was leaving the next day for the Indianapolis 500. When I arrived the next day in Indianapolis, the first people I saw were the "Q" boys, BOBBY LANGFORD and DONNIE ATKINS. They now owned and operated a night school for young boys, which they had attended when they were in high school. I went to register for the race the next day, when who should be selling tickets but SHIRLEY LANGFORD, who was now married to a lawyer and living in Indianapolis. She invited me over to their home that evening. When I arrived, they had a lovely evening planned. We went to a night club and who were we entertained by--but POLLY LOVING, now a Go Go girl. That really shocked me, but man, she did a good job! The next day, just before the race, I ran into BUDDY SEAL who was married to Janet Balderson, with two girls. I won the race and started home, but decided to stay over one night in North Carolina. I got a room and turned on the TV and who should I see but a good friend, DALE CHENAULT, now playing football for Davidson College. "I have to admit, Dale, that was a good pass."

I returned home and went back to work. In about three weeks time I heard ED JONES had fallen in love with a girl from college. He had quit college and gotten married. I also heard Mr. & Mrs. Ernest Jones had thirteen carpenters in Powcan putting the roof back on their house because the weatherman called for rain. In about three years they finally made arrangements for Ed to become a partner in the chicken farm.

The next thing I heard was that RONALD TIGNOR had completed college. Somehow General Cox had blackmailed him into doing it; but it didn't do him any good, because it doesn't take a college education to feed sheep and cattle. He was tied down there for a life-time sentence.

I went to Richmond one day to get some parts and who should I run into but PEGGY WYATT, now Mrs. Reid Davis, a happy housewife with three children. She told me that BETTY JEFFRIES was an Old Maid because she just couldn't get the right one; so she wouldn't have anyone. Betty was now working as a secretary for Jeffries Lumber Company and always spent her time sporting around in a little blue Mustang.

JOHN D. FOGG was now working for the Department of Highways, but still single. He was at this time straightening and paving the road from Owenton to King & Queen Court House because he was just spending too much money in tires on that old crooked road.

CHARLES FOGG was happily married to the former Pamela Atkins and he really had it made. They had built a new house and he stayed at home to make sure nothing was stolen or that nothing would go wrong while Pamela worked everyday. That's what I really call being faithful to him.

One day TOMMY STONE dropped by the shop and wanted a new car. I sold him one, "at a good profit," and he told me he was now running the Walkerton Hardware Store. I told him that working all the time like he did, he didn't need a new car because he didn't have time to drive it.

Time passed--about a month--when one day I was working real hard and I heard someone hollering, "Don't Raymond," an old saying from school. I looked and found out that it was JOHN MARTIN. We talked for a while and he told me he was now Business Manager for Vaughan, Incorporated.

All of a sudden I started seeing shades of light and I felt myself coming around. I looked up and Mama and Daddy were looking at me. The first thing I said was "Daddy, did you get my car out of the road?" When I recovered completely all my classmates came in and I told them my dream. We all wished it were 1977.

CLASS HISTORY

Today, as seniors of 1967, we turn back the pages of time to September, 1955, when twenty-five shy, frightened and puzzled six year olds entered the first grade with Mrs. Helen Clark as our teacher.

In the second grade Mrs. Ida M. Crouch was our teacher. It was during this year that we first learned to write.

Miss Mary Acree taught us in the third grade. It was really an enjoyable year for us.

In the fourth grade we were taught by Mrs. Rachel Greenwood. It was in this grade that we first began having those "difficult" exams. It was also our first year for class meetings and class officers.

We were in Miss Clare Mitchell's room for the fifth grade. This was the beginning of much art work for us. It was also the first year for us to join the 4-H.

Still looking for something new and exciting, we entered the sixth grade with Mrs. Katherine Hagerty as our teacher. Having the reputation of being one of the most mischievous and noisiest groups in school, which we really were, we found ourselves frequently getting into trouble.

In the seventh grade we were under the guidance of Mrs. Christine Alexander, who did much to prepare us for the years ahead.

By the time we reached the eighth grade our class had become what it started out to be--one big, happy family. Mrs. Margaret Chenault was our sponsor that year. We were allowed to join the various clubs that year and we really tried to act like upper classmen.

As freshmen, we had Mr. Leland Wyatt as our sponsor. This year was full of excitement and new experiences.

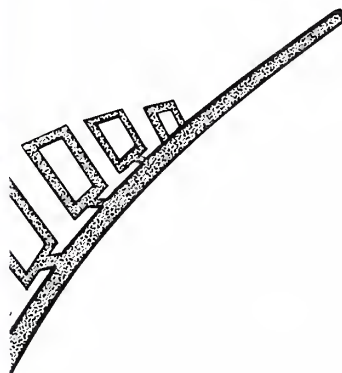

Mrs. Dorothy Gardner was our sponsor during our sophomore year. This was an exciting year and many of us were participating in sports.

Mrs. Margaret Linton was our sponsor during our junior year. We had much fun planning and preparing for our prom, Paris By Night, which was a great success.

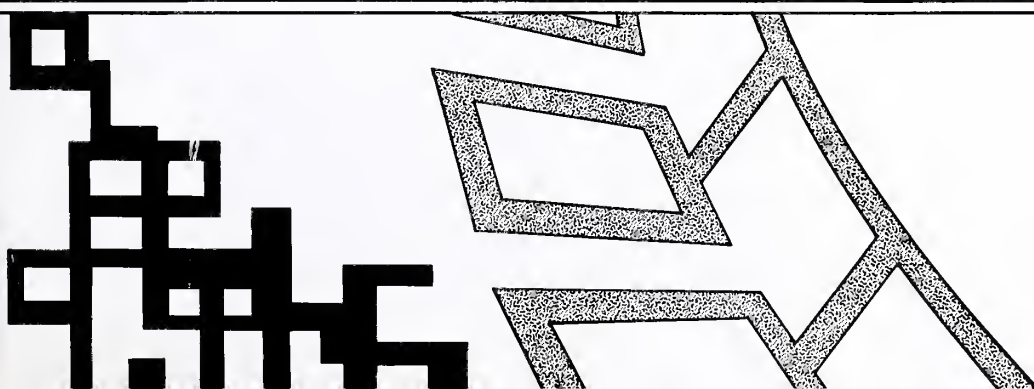

This year we are seniors with Mr. Garnett Poindexter, Jr. as our sponsor. There are fifteen of us and we are all busy with many activities including our yearbook, looking forward to the Junior-Senior Prom, and most important of all will be graduation.

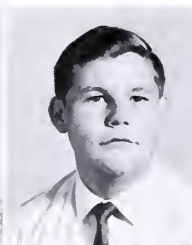

As we conclude our years here at Marriott we shall always remember the past and face the challenge of the future with great effort and hope.

HOW MARRIOTT SCHOOL RECEIVED ITS NAME

There were no public schools in Virginia until 1870, even though Thomas Jefferson had advocated public schools for the state as early as 1784, so those who received an education had to be given it by their parents or wealthy citizens of the community.

However, King and Queen County was an important Educational Center with many excellent private schools from the time it became a county in 1691.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baylor Marriott and her husband, Mr. Obadiah Marriott, a very wealthy Scotch gentleman, did not have any children. Captain Marriott lived at "Bewdley" which he probably built, and owned a great deal of land in King and Queen County.

Mrs. Marriott had first married John Walker and had three children. These children were in affluent circumstances, so apparently both Mr. and Mrs. Marriott were interested in the education of those less fortunate, and here we find conflicting stories.

According to Mr. J. Henley Walker, a descendent of Mrs. Marriott, Mr. Marriott devised in his will a large tract of land called Smithfield to be rented out for the support of poor children as long as the sun and swamps were running, and assist in schooling them.

In the King and Queen Historical Society Bulletins, we find references to Mrs. Elizabeth Baylor Marriott leaving one thousand acres of land known as the Smithfield tract to St. Stephens' Parish for the establishment of a public school. It is also interesting to note that this Smithfield tract was land first patented by Colonel Goodrich a century before, and had been forfeited by him for his part in Bacon's Rebellion. It was later purchased by John Baylor, the father of Mrs. Marriott.

The funds from this land, given in 1770, had been in continuous use at least 138 years for educational purposes but a school had not been built. However, on November 6, 1906, a contract was let and the school was opened the following fall.

In 1906 when King and Queen County decided to build two public schools, the 1,000 acres were sold and the money divided between Marriott and St. Stephens Church, which was named for Mrs. Marriott and Stevensville High School, since both were in St. Stephens Parish. Marriott was located on a part of the original tract of land.

FAREWELL

As we gaze around the room

At Fair Girls and Boys, one and all,

The time has come too soon

To say Farewell - it's been a ball!

F - is for the fun we've had together

A - is for the attitude you've shown

R - is for the rascals you sometimes were

E - is for the exciting times we've known

W - is for all the working hours

E - is for the excellence in all you do

L - is for a life without showers

L - is for the love we feel for you

Put them all together

They spell Farewell....

and to you - Fair Girls and Boys....

Fare--well!

With love and best wishes,

Senior Class of 1967
